WONDERFUL ESCAPE.

Marriages in Winchester—Lutheran Synod in Session.(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WINCHESTER, Va., May 17.—Dr.William S. Love, one of the most eminent surgeons in Virginia, miraculously escaped a horrible death when his driving horse became frightened and ran off to-day. The animal dashed the buggy against a fire hydrant, climbed the Shenandoah Valley Bank steps, collided with a spring wagon, upset the buggy and threw the doctor under it while the vehicle was dragged along the street. The maddened animal was finally stopped and the driver rescued. He sustained a severe nervous shock and was bruised, but escaped serious injury.Samuel Stanley Ginn, a prosperous young farmer, whose father met death

Twelve of the old soldiers have departed this life since the last memorial day.
There was a parade to Green Hill Cemtery, where the graves of the dead were piled high with the blossoms of the summer.A touching scene during the exercises at the cemetery was when Mr. F. H.
Osborne, superintendent of the National Cemetery, presented a basket of flowers with the request that they be placed on the graves of his former foes.

STAMPED TO DEATH.

Charles Hudson Sent on for Killing Robinson Burns.(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WYTHEVILLE, Va., May 17.—The preliminary examination of the case concerning the killing of Robinson Burns at Max Meadows, Saturday night, took place before Judge J. H. Gibney this morning. He was sent on to the grand jury. The evidence elicited by the only two witnesses examined was about as follows:The parties fell out over a trivial matter and engaged in a fistfight in Charles Ced's store, when the latter put them out. Hudson, who was sent on to the grand jury, and Burns started off with his friends, when Hudson pulled free from the party kicking him, went after Burns, and, then pushing him down, and then knocked down a young man who asked him not to strike more, and then Burns, turning to Burns, who was still prostrated, kicked him about the head and expired in half an hour. The autopsy showed death was caused by blood on the brain, Claude A. Swanson spoke here last night to a large audience, including many ladies in the interest of his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination. It was his first appearance before a Wise county audience, and he was given a generous welcome which showed that his hearers were in sympathy with him. He was introduced by General R. A. Ayers, and pleasant references were made by both speakers to the earlier candidacy of General Ayers and his subsequent withdrawal from the race. Mr. Swanson discussed public schools and roads, the Corporation Commission and the various powers of the office of Governor and outlined his policies on these and other questions. He made an eloquent speech that met with frequent applause and was given a hearty reception at the close.To-day he spoke at Coeburn in the eastern

BISHOP GIBSON PRESIDES

Makes His Annual Address and Appoints Standing Committees.(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., May 17.—The one hundred and tenth annual Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church began its session this morning at 10 o'clock, at Christ Church, on High Street.
Divine service was conducted by Bishop Gibson, assisted by the Revs. H. B. Lee, the rector; John Moncreu, D. D., of Richmond; Frederick W. Neve, of Ivy, and E. L. Goodwin, of Richmond.
The bishop's sermon—an excellent one—was somewhat in the nature of a charge to the clergy and laity on "Christian Ministry."The collection was for disabled clergy and widows and orphans funds.The holy communion was administered by Bishop Gibson, assisted by the Rev.
E. L. Goodwin, of Richmond.After divine service, the council was called to order by the bishop.
Thirty-nine clergy and thirty-five laity answered to their names.
Some discussion was aroused by the Rev. J. J. Gravatt, of Richmond, offering a resolution providing for the publication of the bishop's address in the Southern Churchman, the council's organ.
The question was as to whether or not the passage of the resolution would involve an expenditure of money and the bishop ruled that it should go before the Finance Committee before the council considers it.

To Amend Canon.

The Rev. L. R. Mason announced that he proposed to offer to to-morrow a resolution providing that canon IV, be amended to read as follows:Ministers to be careful in admitting to Holy Communion. No one shall be admitted unless he has been baptized in the Parish or congregation under his charge until he has been conversed with them on the subject. Ministers shall be careful that they have been regular communicants in some other Parish or congregation; nor shall he enroll anyone who is not a member of the Episcopal Church, or who is generally set forth in the authorized standards of the church.The Rev. E. L. Goodwin, of St. Mark's Church, Richmond, the Council's histo-riographer, read an exceedingly interesting report, full of historical facts that are of greater value to the Episcopal churches of Virginia than can well be understood by the laymen.Mr. Goodwin's talk, while interesting, was exceedingly long and took careful work and extended time to complete up to the time of his report and the work is not yet done.On motion of the Rev. J. J. Clifton, of the county, a hearty vote of thanks was extended Mr. Goodwin. Bishop Gibson added his profound thanks, saying that he was glad to consider the contribution to the history and the practical working of the church system.

Help V. P. I.

Dr. John McGill, of Trinity Church, Manassas, offered a resolution providing for a committee to consider giving assistance to the church at V. P. I.
Blackburn. After some debate the resolution was passed. The Bishop appointed Revs. J. H. McGill, D. D., of Brook-ing, Harrisonburg, and Mr. Fred. Valentine.The committee on credentials reported.
The Rev. M. S. Eagle, of the secretary, notified the Council that he would tomorrow offer a resolution providing that Canon VIII, Section 3, be amended.The Rev. Everett Meade, of the secretary, immediately offered that a committee of three be appointed to revise the canons of the diocese. It was unanimously adopted. The Bishop appointed Revs. B. Meade and H. B. Lee and Judge J. M. White.The Rev. Everett Meade read the report of the secretary of the Diocesan Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary. Three new branches have been founded during the year. All departments of the mission work of the church have been aided by the auxiliary.Prayer was offered for the Rev. John P. Tyler, of Ashland, who was taken ill last night, and a resolution of regret ordered drawn and presented.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session was given up to the meeting of the Diocesan Missionary Society, of which the secretary, the Rev.
P. Tyler, of Westmoreland, who was called home by the death of his mother, the annual report of the Executive Committee of the society was read by the Bishop. It showed that the treasurer had received since May 14th last, from churches and individuals $2,763.59; the total receipts of the society for the year were $12,324.33 less than last year, while the expenditures have been $5,831.25, an excess over receipts of $1,817.20.There are now, including the archdeacon, and the archdeacon of the colored world, thirty-nine stipendiaries upon the roll of the Episcopal Church in Virginia.
The sum of $10,840 will, therefore, be required between now and the next meeting of the Council, to meet the obligations of the society.Dr. J. Moncreu read a gratifying report of the week done among the colored people of the diocese.Address on missionary work by Revs.

erick Neve, concluded the first day's session of the Council.LUMBERMEN IN DEADLY FIGHTR. L. Field Kills John A. Robinson With a Pistol.

AFTER HIM WITH A GUN

An Excitement Threw the Barrel of Weapon Out of Socket.(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FARMINGTON, Va., May 17.—Mr. John A. Robinson, superintendent of the Camp Manufacturing Company's plant at Farmington, in this Southampton county, was shot and killed Monday evening about 7:30 P. M., by Mr. R. L. Field, one of the subordinate operators at the plant. It resulted that earlier in the evening, before supper, these two men had had some dispute about who was to blame for certain work not having been done, which failure necessitated having to run the planing mill for a while after supper.As a result of that dispute Robinson, who was a very powerful man and much more than a match physically for Field, picked up a piece of timber and started to strike Field, who drew a pistol and warned him to stop, which he, Robinson, did. The men then went to supper, and after supper they had come back to the mill, and while Field and two other men were sitting down, and without any renewal of the dispute between them, Robinson walked by Field with a shotgun concealed behind him and then returned and without a word threw up the gun towards Field, and, cursing him, told him he was going to kill him.Field at once drew his pistol and began to shoot at Robinson, who ran away failed to fire, and the condition of the gun afterwards indicated that in his anger and excitement he had thrown the barrel of the gun out of socket, and that that was why he failed to fire. Robinson was struck in several places and died in a few minutes.Field gave himself up to the authorities at Courtland.
